TỪ VỰNG CẦN GHI NHỚ

Chúng ta cùng xem Sample Answers dưới đây về một số câu hỏi thuộc chủ điểm Name và rút ra những từ vựng cần nhớ.

1. How did your parents choose your name?

To be truthful, I have never asked my parents about this. I suppose they gave me the name "Trang" just because back then it was a popular name for a baby girl. Probably they were not creative enough to think of another.

2. Does your name have any special meaning?

Yes, and in fact, it has a lot of meanings. In Chinese, the word "Trang" means grace and decency. I suppose my mom and dad really want me to become such a person so they sent all the expectation into my name.

3. Is your name common or unusual in your country?

You know, my name used to be a popular one back when I was born. The consequence of this is the fact that a huge number of girls that share the similar name with me at school, which has been quite confusing. The name "Trang" is still common now, but parents have been creative enough to think of a different middle name.

4. If you could change your name, would you?

Hmm, I've never thought about this. Not really. But if I could make a small adjustment to my current name, I would shorten it by leaving out one of my middle names. I have two of them, which is sometimes quite lengthy, especially when I have to fill in any form.

1. Do you work or study? (Do you work or are you a student?)

Well, I have just finished college and currently I'm working as a freelance copywriter. This is what I love to do ever since I was a college student. I have a passion for digital marketing, and how blessed I am to have a job that gives me pay cheques and the freedom to create, without having to spend days in an office.

2. Do you enjoy your work? (Do you like your job?)

Yes, very much. Although the money is not much, I believe that it sets the foundation for me to become a better marketer in the future. Furthermore, I get to improve my English constantly. What I appreciate the most is that I can work wherever and whenever I want with no strings attached.

3. Why did you choose to do that kind of work?

I chose to be a copywriter because marketing was my major when I was in college.

And I have already accumulated some work experience by taking several part-

Group: www.facebook.com/groups/ieltsfighter.support/

I don't really know. I suppose marketing is a popular choice in general, but not a lot of people can develop a passion for copywriting since they think it can be a dull job. In that case, I don't really blame them though, because having to create similar contents for days can be quite monotonous.

5. Are there anything special about job?

As I have mentioned earlier, what I love about my job the most is that it gives me the freedom to create. Unlike many other office work, I don't have to spend an entire day in my office, which is pretty cool. My boss, who is very intuiative, actually encourages me to go outside to find some inspirations for my work.

6. Is there another type of job you would like to do?

Besides this, ever since I was a little girl, I have dreamt of becoming a writer, like J.K Rowling, you know. I think literature is one of the strongest media that can reflect all aspects of life. Journalism sounds great too, but I have never been good at photography, so writing books is probably the only other job I would want to do.

7. Would you recommend your current job to other people?

Yes, I would recommend it to everybody who is majoring in Business in general. Copywriting can be stressful sometimes, but I believe that it can enhance your creativity and imagination to a large extent. If you're good enough, you can be the trend setter for almost anything in the market.

6. Is it important to keep in contact with our friends when we're in a relationship? Absolutely, it's so easy to drift apart from your friends when you fall in love. But I think both partners should try not to lose touch with their friends, that's the best way to have a healthy relationship with your partner.

8. Do you prefer to spend time with your family or your friends?

I don't know. Sometimes I want to spend time with my friends because we have a lot of things in common and it's easy for us to find interesting topics to talk about.

Speaking Part 1: Pets

1. Why do some people keep pets at home?

I think we would all agree that pets are loyal companions to human. Especially for those who adopt pets when they were just newborns, these animals are like the precious children to many families.

2. Have you ever had a pet before?

I used to have a puppy corgi when I was a kid. He and I were best friends, actually. I remember taking him to the park, feeding him with milk and training him with many cool tricks. Sadly, when I got older, I discovered that I am allergic to dog fur, so I had to give him away.

3. Do you like to see animals in the zoo?

I've been to the zoo once, so I can't really tell whether I'm into it. It was good to see exotic animals like lions or giraffes when you were a kid. But when I got older, I've come to realize that zoos are no different from prisons for animals, where they are caged and locked away from their natural habitat.

4. What is the most popular animal in Vietnam?

I suppose the most popular animal in my country is the dog. A lot of Vietnamese children grow up with fond memories about their puppies as their childhood best friend. Besides, you can see that there are many dog rescue groups in the main cities, which aims to save dogs from being abandoned or kidnapped.

Speaking Part 1: Sleep

1. How many hours do you usually sleep at night?

I usually spend like five to six hours a day on sleeping, which is not really recommended by doctors, I know. What's worse is that I'm only in my early 20s but I'm already experiencing something called sleep deprivation. There are days when I cannot even shut my eyes down in the middle of the night.

2. Do you like to get up early in the morning?

Unlike a lot of youngsters my age, I like getting up early in the morning to prepare myself for a new day. I used to be a jogger, spending at least 30 minutes a day on running and doing exercises in the park. But since Hanoi is overly polluted now, that habit has to stop so I tend to oversleep a lot these days.

3. How to have a good sleep?

I think the answer to this question really depends. For me, having a light dinner with no proteins might get me to sleep better. There are times when I become so desperate that I have to resort to sleeping pills, which I believe many others are depending on for a good night's sleep.

4. Do you have a nap during the day?

I think this is a good question. I usually don't spend my lunch break on sleeping at the office, but I often nod off many times during work hours. My boss is very

Speaking Part 1: Weather

1. How is the weather today?

Well, I think today is a lovely day, even though it rained a little bit this morning.

When I got out of the house, the weather seemed to brighten up and I hope it will stay like that for the rest of the day.

2. What's your favourite kind of weather?

I'm actually not fond of any particular kind of weather, you know. I think every season has its own unique beauty and it's up to us to enjoy it. For example, not many people like the freezing weather in the winter, but I see it as a perfect occasion for me to bundle up and show off my clothes.

3. What is the climate like in your country?

Vietnam is a tropical country, you know, so the climate here is guite hot and humid. What upsets me the most is that the weather is getting more unpredictable. It can rain dogs and cats in the morning and suddenly clear out in the afternoon.

4. Does the weather affect people's lives in your country?

I believe that the weather always affects us in every aspect. If it is a gloomy day,

I'm pretty sure everyone will easily get bored or tired of whatever they are doing.

In contrast, the sunny days make us feel alive and upbeat.

5.Do people change in the summer?

It can get sweltering in the summery months, so I think it will exert a certain impact on people's temperament. Everyone becomes less patient than usual, and they often get frustrated and easily get upset over some trivial matters.

Speaking Part 1: Environment

1. Is there anything in your hometown that is being polluted?

Yes, and I would say pretty much everything is polluted there. For starter, air quality has deteriorated at an alarming rate. One literally cannot go out without wearing a medical face mask. The same goes for the streets, as people tend to litter indiscriminately.

2. What causes pollution?

It's hard to tell, but I would put the blame on the people who disrespect their surroundings by constantly littering and ignoring how the environment is degrading day by day. As pollution is linked to all types of social and economic issues, we must all be aware of the destruction we're causing on our own.

3. Have you ever done anything to help protect the environment?

Not in a direct way, to be honest. Although I'm well aware of my responsibilities to the environment, it's really difficult to contribute anything when you're just a student. So I would say, by not littering indiscriminately on the streets and not using so many plastic bags, I have done a little bit to help.

Speaking Part 1: Morning Routine

1. What do you do in the morning?

Well, obviously, personal hygiene activities are at the top of my list. Compared to other members of my family, I suppose I have some sort of weird morning rituals.

For example, there are days when I just keep fussing over what to wear despite the fact that I have a wardrobe full of clothes.

2. Is breakfast important?

It is a scientific fact that breakfast is the most important meal of the day. It provides us with energy to begin our working day. For some others, breakfast can be the family mealtime, since adults are always up to their ears at work.

3. What is your morning routine?

I've got a lot of those, to be honest. I usually start a day sipping a nice cup of latte and then make my own breakfast. Other than that, before I'm off to work, I often spend at least 15 minutes in front of my mirror, you know, to make sure that I look presentable.

4. Do you like to get up early in the morning?

That would be a solid no. I'm quite a night owl, you know, who spends most nights binge watching movies. Besides, whenever exams are around the corner, I

Speaking Part 1: Plants

1. Do you keep plants at home?

I do not have the habit of keeping plants in my house as I know I do not have the time and energy to do it. Not to mention, I've never been good at indoor gardening either. That being said, I have some artificial hanging plants in my bedroom, which is merely for decorative purpose.

2. What plant did you grow when you were young?

When I was small, I used to be in charge of repotting a cactus for my science class.

It didn't require much watering, so my job was rather easy.

3. Do you know anything about growing a plant?

Absolutely no. I can't even take care of a houseplant, let alone growing one. The only knowledge I've got about growing a plant is that it requires daily watering and sufficient sunlight. Without either of which, the plant will probably die in a short amount of time.

4. Do Vietnamese people send plants as a gift?

Well, from my own experience, I haven't seen many people in my country give plants to others. Besides the fact that some types of plant can be hard to preserve, placing plants around a house is believed to be a difficult task since this is often associated with fengshui. This means that you have to get the suitable plant for the owner, or else bad omens might follow him, as some believe.

Speaking Part 1: Save Money

1. Did you save money when you were young?

Yes, ever since I was a child, my parents have taught me about the value of money. Back then, my only source of income was the lucky money I received during Tet festivals. I established my own piggy bank and fed it with every dollar I got. So far, the pig is quite big, you know.

2. Have you ever given money to other children?

Yes, but not in a direct way. A few years ago, my school started a fund-raising campaign to support the underprivileged students in the North of Vietnam. I remember donating a majority of my allowance and some of my discarded clothes to the fund.

3. Do you think parents should teach children to save money?

Yes, I'm convinced that parents should instill some financial literacy in their kids. They should be aware of how to spend, save, or even donate money in an appropriate way. Money management is definitely one of the must-learn skills for everybody who wishes to live independently.

4. Do parents give pocket money in Vietnam?

Of course they do. I would say that Vietnamese parents are quite relaxed when it comes to giving their children pocket money. I even know some moms, who are trying to teach their kids some responsibilities, use allowance as rewards for them every time they perfectly finish a household chore.

Speaking Part 1: Foreign Food

1. Have you ever tried foreign food?

As a foodie, of course I have tasted different kinds of food, and imported food and beverages are no exception. My top two favorites are Italian pizza and Taiwanese bubble milk tea, which are considered the most popular among Vietnamese youngsters.

2. Do you like to try new food?

I'm all about experiencing new things, but new foods are off limit. I mean, there are a number of foods that can literally haunt me for life. For example, Mam Tom, which is a type of stinky and pungent shrimp paste used in many Vietnamese dishes, is a kind of food that really puts me off.

3. What kinds of new foods have you tried recently?

Recently I've been thinking about healthy eating, so I've tried my best to find a snack that is both scrumptious and low-carb. And finally I found Sua Chua Nep Cam, which is a mixture of brown glutinous rice and unsweetened yogurt. I have eaten this on a daily basis, and now I've lost 2kg.

4. Do you like any food from other countries near Vietnam?

Of course I do. I have a profound passion for Chinese cuisine as I have spent some time in this country. I can spend hours drooling over Beijing roasted duck and Guangzhou homemade noodles. Whenever I've got the munchies, I just daydream about feasting on these incredible dishes.

Speaking Part 1: Music

-> Link bài mẫu: TAI ĐÂY

1. What kinds of music do you like to listen to?

My music taste varies widely from West to East and from the 90s to modern EDM. But if Korean pop is considered as a kind of music, then yeah, that's my favorite of all time. More than half of my playlists are Korean songs and I always keep myself updated with the news related to Korean showbiz.

2. How much time do you spend listening to music every day?

As I've mentioned I prefer working in silence. To put it simply, no music is allowed during my working hours. After a long day at school, I probably want to pump myself up for like half an hour with music to help me stay energetic so I can get back to work later.

3. Do you like any foreign celebrities?

Absolutely. The person that I have had a soft spot for is Miley Cyrus. I guess most people at the same age as me grew up with Disney Channel and among its successful series, Hannah Montanah starring Miley Cyrus would always be on top of my list. Although now she's grown up, I'm still a big fan of her amazing voice and highly inspiring songs.

4. Would you like to become a widely-known celebrity? Why?

Well though I've never thought about it, I'm pretty sure that rising to stardom would never be one of my life goals. I appreciate all the efforts that celebrities, no matter which field they're working on, are making every single day. However, I TUYỂN TẬP BÀI MẪU IELTS SPEAKING PART 1 IELTS FIGHTER

1. Do you like shopping for shoes?

Of course. Shopping for clothes and accessories is obviously every girl's favorite activity whenever we have free time and shoes are no exception. I often buy shoes when they are on sale to save my money.

2. How often do you buy shoes?

I'm not quite sure about this. I suppose I just purchase a pair of shoes when my old ones have worn out. Or like I mentioned earlier, whenever shoes are on discount.

3. What kinds of shoes do you usually buy?

I have a soft spot for ankle boots and sneakers. Ankle boots are stylish and sneakers are very sporty, which match my outfits very much.

4. What kinds of shoes do you usually wear?

As I go to school everyday, I don't think boots would be comfortable for me. So sneakers and flat shoes are my top choices. Other than that, I only wear boots or high heels when attending some fancy events.

5. Do you think the type of shoes someone wears reflects their character?

Yes, I write a lot of emails as part of my job. I work for a company that has offices in several countries, so we use email to communicate.

2. Do you often send emails?

Normally it seems like a daily routine for me to write emails to my clients about how to use the system; but if they complain to me about the poor user experience, I sometimes really find myself getting stuck in explaining to comfort them.

3. How often do you send e-mails?

I probably write between 5 and 10 work emails every day, and I send emails to friends or family a few times a week.

4. How often do you check your email?

Well, regularly. Maybe on a daily basis, I would say. Mails are important for me, because my work does not allow me to meet as many people for networking, so we mostly connect using mails, delaying the work does not make sense.

5. Do you prefer to write by hand or on a computer?

It depends what I'm doing. I prefer the computer for most things because it's faster and you can save or copy things, but I still like making notes or writing ideas down by hand.

6. Do you think emails are useful?

Emails are really useful and important to me. I can use emails to contact people who are staying far away from me, and this really comes in handy as I have lots of foreign friends. Moreover, I can receive notifications of special deals or interesting information through emails by subscribing to any online channels that appeal to me.

7. Do you think people will still write letters in the future?

Well, if I were to choose between the two, I will probably go with writing an email because I can have plenty of time thinking about how to express my opinion correctly and clearly, besides, the whole conversation can be tracked in the mail list; whereas, making a telephone call usually leads to misunderstanding because sometimes it is not very accurate and obscure.

Q1: Why do some people throw garbage on the street?

There are many reasons for this nuisance. Firstly, people have become too lazy and unwilling to throw away trash appropriately. It is common to see people discard trash out of their kitchen windows or balconies probably because they are too lazy to put it in the rightful places. Secondly, people choose to throw garbage on roads because there is no strict warnings or punishment for those crimes.

4. Do you think your city is clean or not?

I don't think so. There's a decline in the air quality since the city is always filled with emissions from the expanding fleets of cars and motorcycles and also construction projects surrounding the city. Also the lack of green spaces is another major problem that our city has to face. Hundreds of decades-old trees in Hanoi have been chopped down to expand roads and lay the metro line network, with authorities consistently prioritizing urbanization over protecting the environment.

Answer: Absolutely! Especially when puberty hit and I was under a lot of pressure from my parents as well as from peers, I was cranky all the time. But now, although I have a lot more things going through my head, I've learned to get into the habit of keeping track of my thoughts by writing out everything that I have to do in order to see what makes me impatient. We live interrupted lives as we try to multitask and it is frustrating when we feel we aren't making progress.

Answer: Obviously, there's a mixed variety of food in my country. But I guess the most popular one would probably be pho, since Vietnam is world-famous for it. It's tasty, cheap and available at all hours. In some places, it costs you like 20.000dong for a steaming hot bowl of Pho. And also, you might find some other things like bun cha, bun bo hue, banh xeo, etc,. they are all very delicious.

Question 4: Do you have a healthy diet?

1. Who does the cooking in your family? Why?

My mother does all the cooking at my home. I guess I am blessed for having such a talented mother, who happens to be a retired cook. I have always had some sort of a fitness plan, but my mother's home-cooked meals somehow have stood in the way, so I suppose I just have to live with that.

2. Did you learn how to cook when you were younger?

No, actually I didn't learn how to cook when I was a child. I grew up with working parents, and they were always up to their ears, so cooking, let alone teaching me how to cook, was nearly impossible for them. When I was small, my meals usually rotated around fast food, frozen food and takeaways.

Do you think Vietnamese people's diet is healthy?

Yes, a lot of Vietnamese people pay attention to the food we eat, and many of us like eating soup or vegetables. I think that's pretty healthy. But I have to admit that nowadays because of the fast pace of life, many people have to choose junk food for lunch, which is usually not healthy.

4. Do you like tasting new food?

Yes, whenever I travel to a new place, I always try my best to find the famous local food to have a taste. Most of the dishes are incredible, except for some spicy

Thai tom yum paste I tried when I was in Bangkok last summer. Let just say that it is the type of food that can haunt me for life.

Speaking Part 1: Being on time

1. Would you describe yourself as a punctual person?

Well, I'm the type of person who always tries her best to keep track of time. I have never been late to any important occasions, such as meetings or interviews.

Even when hanging out with my friends, I often try to make it at least 15 minutes earlier to avoid traffic congestion.

2. Do you think it is important for an individual to be on time?

I think it is of great importance for anybody to be punctual. Being on time on every occasion indicates your respect towards the people who are waiting for you.

In some other cases, being late might cost you a lot of important things like flights, for example.

3. How do you feel when others are late?

Obviously there's nothing to be happy about it. I hold a grudge against impunctual people because they often make me waste so much time. But all in all, I just have to be tolerant of that and patiently wait till they arrive.

4. Do you feel guilty when you are late?

Of course I would be profoundly apologetic if I'm late for any event. If I was put into such a situation, I would immediately apologize to the people waiting for me and give them proper explanations of what happened.

Speaking Part 1: MEDIA

1. Do your often read newspapers?

Well, I'm actually not the type of people who dip into their daily newspapers.

Since the presence of the Internet is pretty much ubiquitous nowadays, I often go online and flick through e- news on a regular basis. It is surprising to know that social media platforms like Facebook can keep you updated with what's going on around the world.

2. Do you prefer to read local news or international news?

I actually don't have any preference toward either of them. Domestic news is obviously important because those affairs have a direct impact on our life. On the other hand, foreign news is very interesting as they can help me enrich my horizons, therefore I don't want to lose track of either of them.

3. Which is more popular where you live, newspapers or magazines?

I would say that these two share equal popularity in Vietnam. Newspaper, although may be a little bit old-fashioned, is still the main source of daily news for adults, especially among senior citizens. On the other hand, magazines are becoming increasingly appealing to young people for their attractive visuals nd interesting columns

I think it depends. Since the development of technology never seems to come to a halt, I strongly believe that I will choose e- newspapers over the traditional edition. Besides the obvious convenience that e- news can offer, I'm drawn to the fact that it's much cheaper and more reliable.

Speaking Part 1: Smile

1. Do you often smile?

It's funny to think about it, but I actually smile pretty often. I'm a pretty optimistic person. I like looking on the bright side of things. So, that means I usually have a ' smile on my face, especially when I'm talking to friends and family. It's always best to crack a smile even when you're not in a good mood

2. Do you smile when people take pictures of you?

Yes, I definitely smile if I'm getting my picture taken. It's always good to look happy in a photo. It makes you look better. To be honest, nobody wants to look horrible in old photos and see someone who looks so unpleasant or dead inside.

So I make a habit of smiling for anything, including camera-ready

3. When do people give fake smiles?

I think people often fake a smile when they try to hide what they are feeling inside, especially when they are trying to console someone or sugarcoat something. It's hard to tell whether fake smiles are good or bad, but at least they give comfort to other people, who are probably in need of some understanding or appreciation.

I guess people smile at others when they're eager and happy to see them. For example, if you have a good friend that you haven't met for ages, you would probably smile when you finally see them. People also smile when they greet other people, whether they're close or not. Smiling, in my country, is pretty much a common courtesy.

Từ vựng cần chú ý:

Cụm từ crack a smile: khi bạn sử dụng cụm từ này trong bài thi, hãy nhớ rằng đây là hành đông cười nhẹ, cười mà trong lòng bạn thực sự không hề vui nhé.

Speaking Part 1: Work & Career

1. Do you work or study?

Well, I have just finished college and currently I'm working as a freelance copywriter. This is what I love to do ever since I was a college student. I have a passion for digital marketing, and how blessed I am to have a job that gives me pay cheques and the freedom to create, without having to spend days in an office.

2. Is that a popular job in your country?

I don't really know. I suppose marketing is a popular choice in general, but not a lot of people can develop a passion for copywriting since they think it can be a dull job. In that case, I don't really blame them though, because having to create similar contents for days can be quite monotonous.

3. Are there anything special about your job?

As I have mentioned earlier, what I love about my job the most is that it gives me the freedom to create. Unlike many other office work, I don't have to spend an entire day in my office, which is pretty cool. My boss, who is very intuitive, actually encourages me to go outside to find inspirations for my work.

4. Is there another type of job you would like to do?

Besides this, ever since I was a little girl, I have dreamt of becoming a writer, like

J.K Rowling, you know. I think literature is one of the strongest media that can reflect all aspects of life. Journalism sounds great too, but I have never been good at photography, so writing books is probably the only other job I would want to do.

5. Would you recommend your current job to other people?

Yes, I would recommend it to everybody who is majoring in Business in general.

Copywriting can be stressful sometimes, but I believe that it can foster your creativity and imagination to a large extent. If you're good enough, you can be the trend setter for almost anything in the market.

Speaking Part 1: Parents and children

Q. 1. Who are you closest to in your family?

Answer: I would say that I am closest to my mother of all my family members, mainly because my mother probably is the easiest person in the world to get along with. I can talk to my mother pretty much about everything without much of an issue and ask for her advice whenever I need it.

Q. 2. Do you get along well with your family?

Answer: Yes, I think that I get along pretty well with everybody in my family. Of course, we have disagreements over different issues from time to time, but I think that this kind of thing is a regular thing in pretty much every family. After all, the important thing is that we all settle down after a good argument at the end of the day.

Q. 3. Are your parents your role model in life? Why?

Answer: Yes, I would certainly say that my parents are the best role model in my life because I have seen how they have raised their family and stuck with it in thick and thin since the day I started to understand the world around me. My parents have been truly inspirational with their hard works and discipline and not to mention their unconditional love and dedication for me.

Q. 4. How much time did your parents spend with you when you were a child?

Answer: I would say that my parents managed to spend a good amount of time with me during my childhood, especially my mother who was a housewife and stayed at home all the time. However, as far as my father was concerned, he used to spend a significant amount of time outside of the home because of his work.

Despite his busy work schedule, he tried his best to spend as much time as possible with me.

Q. 5. Do you want children in the future? Why?

Answer: I seriously don't think I'd have children of my own, to be frank. I lack the parenting skills and the patience to be a good parent. In fact, I don't think I even enjoy having children of other people in the same room with me. I'd leave that mission to another family. I and my partner would rather travel the world and have peace and silence at night.

Q. 6. What do you like the most about your parents?

Answer: Well, I think I like their personalities the most. My father is really funny and charismatic. He always cheer people up when they're down. He's willing to listen and to help if needed. My mom is friendly and caring. She is also respectful

Speaking Part 1: Friends

1. Do you have many friends?

Answer: Actually no, I don't have many friends mainly because I'd have to spend a lot of time in order to keep in touch with all of them. I prefer spending my time maintaining a good friendship. Especially with those who wouldn't complain so much about their lives and being negative or pessimistic. I have two very good friends whom I really care about.

Answer: I try to meet my friends at least once a month, which may not seem much, but that seems to be enough for me to keep each other updated about our lives by talking about the issues that are affecting our lives on a daily basis. With the passage of time, we have got busy and can't meet each other every day or even every other day despite the fact that we really enjoy spending time together.

3. Is there anything special about your friends?

Answer: I am not sure what "special" really means in this context, but all of my friends are pretty "special" to me because we all take care of us each other in whichever "capacity" it is possible. But, if you are asking to name any particular

"skill" or "quality", I would say that one of my friends has great "cycling" skill while another one is a "champion" of inter-city "chess" playing tournament.

Answer: My friends are mostly of the same age group even though I wouldn't mind having friends from a different age category as well. However, I choose to stick with friends of my age mainly because it becomes rather easy to relate with each other as we all tend to talk, behave and think pretty much the same way.

5. What you did with your friends last time you met them?

Answer: It rarely happens that all of our friends are managing to meet and get together at the same time and at the same spot because of our busy life schedule, but when it does happen, we try to make the best use of the occasion. So, the last time when we all got together, we went to one of our favourite restaurant in our home town to enjoy a great meal.

6. What do you think makes a great friend?

Answer: Well, I think it is important for a friend to be thoughtful and considerate. If I make friend with someone who only cares about themselves, especially if they are arrogant and narcissistic I would immediately be put off and try to disconnect from the conversation. A great friend will offer you practical advice, will glue your feet to the ground while being supportive in your decisions.
